FLEXIBLE TREATMENT

ABOUT

The Community Outpatient Program provides flexible treatment options to the general public. These service options allow individuals the flexibility to participate in other roles, while also engaging in appropriate treatment that can be focused on either substance use or mental health, independently; the opportunity to maintain work, school, and family schedules while gaining education and knowledge to help maintain sobriety and best manage mental health symptoms.

The Outpatient Program can consist of any combination of the following: Individual and group substance use disorder counseling, mental health counseling, medically assisted treatment, case management, and relapse prevention.
