ABOUT

The Counseling Center's Hughes Re-entry Center creates alternative solutions for justice system offenders who struggle with addiction.

The Hughes Re-entry Program, along with all of our vocational programming, provides access to GED assistance, plumbing, electrical, and deckhand vocational development, to name a few. Additional services include: flexible individual and group substance counseling, mental health support, individualized case management, and comprehensive medical care.

Specialized Focused

This intensive outpatient program with supportive housing is specifically designed for people involved in the justice system who are struggling with addiction.

Reducing Re-entry Barriers

A proven and innovative combination of provided services reduces the typical barriers of re-entry into employment, family, and the community.
